"HONOR EDEN"

A lively new comic strip by Jack Sparling

The Big Town is a magnet to career girls. It draws them by the thousands each year—offering hopes of success and possible marriage (preferably to a millionaire). And often it sends them home with broken hearts.

A good many of these career girls make their home in Honor Eden's big brownstone house at 56 East. Here the graying, but still beautiful Honor comforts, consoles and counsels her charges, shares their successes and sorrows alike. Let's drop in at 56 East and see for ourselves what Honor's girls are up to now.
